Frank Happenings

Mrs. W. H. Hilton went out to Fernie on Wednesday morning.

Harry Sutherland pulled his calves this week for pastures new.

Sergt. David Stone is down from Edmonton visiting his brother Danny this week.

Miss Lillian Blais left for Edmonton on Monday morning to enter a business college.

Miss Janet Howe left on Tuesday morning for Falkstone, B.C., on a visit to her sister.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Donkin returned from their vacation the early part of the week.

J. Mortimer, of Bellevue, was down here on Thursday evening, and purchased a ticket for England.

W. Love, D. Stone, Sergt. David Stone and James Kennedy are spending a week fishing at South Fork.

A. J. McKinnon left on Tuesday evening to join Mr. McKinnon on her father's ranch at Burnin, and will spend three or four days fishing at South Fork.

The public school opened on Monday morning with Mr. Turner as principal, and Miss Calder as assistant. A third teacher is expected to arrive in a few days.

We regret that space will not permit us this week of giving a review of the speech to be delivered by Dr. Smetanka on Wednesday night next, but hope to afford considerable space next week.

Mrs. D. S. Howe wishes to state that she will continue to operate the local meat market established by her late husband. She desires to thank her customers for past patronage and hopes for a continuance of their favors in the future.

Dr. Smetanka, of Chicago, will be in Frank on Wednesday, September 3, and will speak in English and Bohemian languages and endeavor to point out to the English-speaking people the Bohemian position in regard to the present war. The Bohemian people have already proved that they are strictly with the Allies. The response to the machine gun-fund and the Serbian Red Cross fund was proof of that. Illustrations will be given by lantern slides. Although the Bohemian people of Frank and Michel are contributing individually to cover the expenses, a charge of 25 and 15 cents will be made, and the amount of balance will go to the Canadian Patriotic Fund. Every one should be present at the Methodist church on this occasion on Wednesday, September 3, at 8 p.m.

The Fraser-McDonald party returned from North Fork this morning with several barrels of trout.

The Oddfellows have leased the hall over the McEachern block, next door to P. Burns & Co., where their regular meetings will be held in future.

Some of our citizens should have brought to memory that big celebration which took place in Blairmore on August 7th, 1914, over the great British naval victory in the North Sea. It must have been because of the Blairmore noise on that occasion that the German fleet has ever since hid in the rock crevices of the Baltic coast or the Kiel canal.

Government Plans Repeal Of Single Tax Policy

At the next session of the legislature the Shifon government will abolish the single tax principle and put through legislation reverting to dual taxation. According to the tacit admission of Hon. Wilfrid Laurier the single tax has proved a failure. Assessments everywhere in Alberta have been inflated to vastly abnormal amounts. Tax rates are climbing and people owning vacant land are refusing largely to meet the demands of municipalities.

The result is that an alarming situation has arisen. Municipalities are without money and cannot get it. They cannot take the land, but for the time being it increases liabilities instead of augmenting liquid assets or furnishing collateral which can be utilized to improve conditions. Figures showing the extent of lands which owners are ready to relinquish rather than pay present tax rates and it is stated that even Hon. Charles Stewart, chief exponent of the single tax in the cabinet, is convinced that the system is unworkable.

Mr. Gariepy has not announced what plan will be adopted. In fact he does not know, for up to this time the government has been occupied chiefly with the problem of facing the facts and speculating as to whether it can withdraw from the policy which it fathered and fostered without the loss of too great prestige. The decision has been that a switch must be made, regardless of consequences, and it must be made quickly. Otherwise the municipalities will face the danger of going bankrupt through having to appropriate so much land that the balance in private hands will never be able to meet municipal requirements. In fact that is the condition already in a great number of towns and cities are threatened with the same difficulty.

The minister of municipalities breaks the news to the public today very guardedly. He wants to prepare folks for the switch softly, so that they will take it more as a matter of course when it comes. Following his return from the conference on taxation at San Francisco he says: "I have been on this trip of investigation less than three weeks, but I have come back prepared to have additional and most careful investigation made by my department into the whole question of municipal assessment and taxation in Alberta."

Single tax and municipal ownership are questions which have many advocates in our midst, but this is no time to discuss either abstract principles, or theories. Financial conditions, the effect of the war, excessive land speculation and extravagance have undoubtedly brought upon Canada, and possibly on many states of the American union, abnormal conditions, the meeting of which requires extreme care, courage and foresight. There are none who will deny that the time has passed for special legislation aimed to safeguard against excessive speculation in the province. So says Mr. Gariepy, minister of municipalities. The single tax is now only an abstract principle, or theory, he affirms. It was introduced by the government with the avowed intention of curbing speculation but it must have failed in its purpose, for Mr. Gariepy says that excessive land speculation and extravagance have occurred to such an extent that this "abstract principle" must be abandoned.

Patriotic Musical Entertainment at Frank

On Saturday night, the 11th, at 8 o'clock sharp, the Harmony Saxophone Quartette will give a musical entertainment in the Methodist church at Frank, when a program of high-class music will be rendered. The programme will appear in these columns next week. We feel sure that a crowded house will greet the performers on this occasion and give them encouragement in their work. The admission will be 50c. for adults and 25c. for children. A percentage of the proceeds will go to the church and the larger portion to the Calgary "News-Telegram" Wounded Soldiers Fund. Come out everyone and help on the good work.

In the afternoon a matinee will be given in the church for the benefit of the Red Cross Society, starting at 3 o'clock. Admission 15 cents.

Extraordinary War Picture Coming

In connection with the Returned Wounded Soldiers Fund the Calgary News-Telegram have arranged with a number of manufacturers of moving picture films whereby they are enabled to exhibit throughout the West some of the most sensational and interesting war pictures that have ever been taken. These pictures will include not only a multitude of reproductions from Belgium, France and Flanders, as well as innumerable scenes from Great Britain and Canada, but will also provide for the public of the West peace and moving scenes of almost every western officer who has fallen and every Western regiment which has gone to the call of the Empire.

As a musical feature in connection with these moving pictures, they have organized the Harmony Saxophone Quartette which they propose to send out with the films, and they feel sure will provide an entertainment that will draw big houses in all western towns and cities. The members of the Saxophone Quartette are four of the best musicians in Western Canada and the nature of their selections is so novel that their offerings should appeal strongly to the public. In addition to that, two members of the troupe are excellent singers, and their songs promise to win much popularity. This quartette will also act as accompanists with military music during the pictures.

This attraction appears at the Lyric Theatre, Bellevue, Monday, September 14th, and at the Blairmore opera house on September 14th.

The admission fee will be 50 and 25c. Everyone turn out and help on this patriotic endeavor.

The Kaiser's Dream

The following lines were sent The North Sydney Herald last week from Private John Boulter, who is now a member of the 25th N. S. Battalion, at present at East Sandling Camp, England. There's a story now current, though strange it may seem, Of the great Kaiser Wilhelm, and a wonderful dream. Being first of the Allies, he lay down in bed.

And thought of other things, dreamt he was dead. And in a fine codin, was lying in state, With a state of leave, Belgium, who mourned for his fate. He wasn't long dead till he found to his cost That his soul, like his soldiers, had gone to be lost.

On leaving this earth, to heaven he went straight. Arriving there gave a knock at the gate.

An angel looked out and in a voice loud and clear Said, "Begone, Kaiser Bill, we don't want you here!" "Well," said the Kaiser, "that's very uncivil, I suppose after that, I must go to the devil."

So he turned on his heel, and off he did go. At the top of his speed, to the regions below.

But when he got there, he was filled with dismay. For while waiting outside, he heard old Nick say, (to his impulse):

"Now look here, boys, I give you all my advice. I'm expecting the Kaiser down here in the morning; But don't let him in, for to me it's quite clear, He's a very bad man and we don't want him here. If he once gets in, there'll be no end of quarrels. In fact I'm afraid he will spoil our good morals."

"Oh, Satan, my dear friend," the Kaiser then cried, "Excuse me for listening, while waiting outside, If you don't let me in, then where can I go?"

"Indeed," said the devil, "I really don't know."

"Oh, do let me in, I'm feeling quite cold, And if you want money, I've plenty of gold; Let me sit in a corner, no matter how hot."

"No," said the devil, "most certainly not. We don't admit folks for riches or pelf. Here's sulphur and matches, makes hell for yourself!"

Then he kicked Wilhelm out and vanished in smoke. And just at that moment the Kaiser awoke.

He jumped out of bed, in a shivering sweat. And said, "Well that dream I shall never forget."

That I won't go to heaven, I know very well. But it's really too bad, to be kicked out of hell."

Prohibition of Sale of Game

During the past fifteen years, many states have gradually been cleaning house in the matter of the commercial slaughter of their game, and many good half-way laws have been enacted. The original rule was for a state to protect its own game, but to permit the sale of game slaughtered in other states. This essentially selfish basis led to an immense amount of mutual poaching and selling, and the results were most disastrous.

In 1911, the state of New York led the way in a sweeping reform. The legislature amended the now famous Byrne law which absolutely prohibits the sale in that state of any American wild game, no matter where killed, and strictly limits the sale of all foreign game. It also permits the sale, under official state tags of white-tailed deer, mallard ducks, black ducks and pheasants, that have been bred and reared in captivity in New York, and killed and tagged according to law.

This law had the immediate and visible effect of stopping fully one-half of the enormous annual duck and goose slaughter on Currituck sound, North Carolina, and it directly benefited each of the sixteen states in the line of annual fight of about 120,000 unskilled wild fowl. The action of New York was immediately followed by similar action in Massachusetts; after which, in 1912, the state of California also wheeled into line.

Canada's Credit is High

A block of $45,000,000, Dominion of Canada one and two year 5 per cent notes last month was subscribed in New York in a few minutes. A block of $11,500,000 two year 5 per cent, notes of the Canadian Northern Railway Company was oversubscribed in New York last week. Great Britain is granting Canada loans of $10,000,000 monthly to finance the Dominion's share of the war. The Dominion government has not declared a moratorium at any time during the course of the war and will not do so. Canada, this fall, will harvest the biggest crop on record. Canadian exports are increasing and there is now a favorable trade balance. Canada is helping to fight the world's battle for Right. There are but a few of the reasons why Canadian credit stands high in the world's money markets.—Money Talk Times.

CATCH A BAD COLD.

"Last winter my son caught a very bad cold and the way he coughed was something dreadful," writes Mrs. Sarah E. Duncan, of Tipton, Iowa. "We thought sure he was going into consumption. We bought just one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that one bottle stopped his cough and cured his cold completely." For sale by all dealers.

Soliciting Funds To Be Stopped

A memorandum issued by the militia department at Ottawa discourages the practice of overseas sine soliciting subscriptions for bands, regimental funds, etc. The practice, it is announced, does not commend itself to the militia council and steps will be taken to prevent a continuance of the same. No appeals for subscriptions will be permitted except by permission of the militia council. This action is taken because the forces are supplied by the department with everything necessary, and it should not be necessary to appeal to the public for assistance, especially as there are so many objects to which the public has responded liberally.

Scientific Dairying

How a 750 Pound Butter Cow Was Found in Iowa

Co-operation among producers in the great west along the lines of better farming methods, but it is especially beneficial to dairying. Co-operation originated in the dairy countries of Europe, and it has worked wonders in revolutionizing the conditions of the farmers in the formerly impoverished lands of Holland, Denmark and the Channel Islands.

Organization is essential to the welfare of the American farmers. This has been proved by the co-operative elevator, the co-operative creamery, and the co-operative cow-testing associations. The co-operative cow-testing associations are revealing some wonderful facts to the farmer, and dairymen who have become members. In fact, the results are so surprising to the owners of herds under test that every cow these men see is looked upon with suspicion. They immediately begin to calculate on the cow's ability at the pail and wonder if her real value is hidden beneath the veil of skin and flesh.

If anyone doubts the value of the co-operative association he needs but have a talk with the members. In one of the Iowa Testing associations a 750-pound butter cow was discovered. This record was made on a regular farm, where no special means were used.

The herd at this time was made up of 12 cows and 1 bull. The average cost of feed per cow during the year was $16.12 and the net profit $72.22.

Keep Children Well During Hot Weather

Every mother knows how fatal the hot summer months are to small children. Cholera, dysentery, and stomach troubles are rife at this time, and often a small child's life is lost in a few hours. The mother who keeps Baby's Own Tablets in the house feels the occasion of the summer months. Baby's Own Tablets prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if they occur, they are quickly and generally done so by the Tablets will bring the baby safely through. They are sold by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

It is probable that but few persons who admire the fine, elegant glassware know that the prism-like hues displayed are a result of the decay of the glass. The disintegration sets in, the substance of the glass splits into exceedingly thin laminae, which, as the light traverses them, give rise to a splendid play of colors. As in the instance of the leaves of the forest, these delicate glass-like structures, by becoming more beautiful.

A ducky went out fishing with a little boy about three years old, and while at play on the bank of the stream the youngster fell into the water. Immediately the colored man waded in, and catching him by the seat of the pantaloons, pulled him out to dry ground. A minister who happened to have seen the occurrence complimented him on his quick action and his bravery, for the stream was a swift one.

"Well," said the ducky, "I had to take that little kid, boss, for he had to be in his pocket, so I had to."

Germanians Using Painted Snipers The London News says that painted snipers, who are indistinguishable from the landscape are the latest invention of the German. Writing from a hospital Private Seabury of the 2nd Royal Fusiliers, who has been wounded in the arm, says that he was perforated by seven bullets, one of which tore off the glass and hands of his watch. He added that the painted snipers are the latest invention of the German.

He was a member of a regimental band, and he did not forget to brag about it.

"Why, man, we can play the most fantastic airs at sight," he was saying.

"Indeed," said the unbelieving lieutenant, "I should like to hear you play the airs the drum-major puts on."

"Till this."

Effects of High Explosive Shells

Many Ideas Are Being Revised Regarding the Use of Shrapnel

Before this war the shrapnel shell had generally been regarded as the most effective for killing men, and the high explosive shell the kind most useful for destroying fortifications and for demolishing trenches. The war has exploded many of these ideas, and it is now being revised regarding the use of shells, as well as the effect of shrapnel on the battlefield.

The shrapnel shell is designed to explode in the air, and to scatter a shower of metal balls, the size of a marble, and fragments of shell, over a wide area, with damaging effect. Whenever a flying missile may happen to find a human target, the high explosive shell is the one to use.

The Cheap Canned Products

There is a Vast Difference in Canned Foods, as in Other Lines

A recent bulletin of the U.S. department of agriculture contains the following suggestive remarks on canned goods:

"In making a comparison of the cost of canned and fresh products of the same kind, a number of factors must be taken into consideration. First, the cost of the raw material and the waste when purchased in the small quantity used in a sample can."

"Second, the cost of labor and preparation used in making it ready for the market. It is obvious that a canned product can not be made for time, as the canned goods are made throughout the year and the fresh for only a limited season, and purchase of a product for a limited season is usually higher."

"Third, the cost of the product. The fresh or canned article, the cost of the quality, the higher the price; food bought by the angler can cost more than if bought by the dealer. In the case of the canned goods, the cost of the quality, the higher the price; food bought by the angler can cost more than if bought by the dealer."

"Fourth, the cost of the product. The fresh or canned article, the cost of the quality, the higher the price; food bought by the angler can cost more than if bought by the dealer. In the case of the canned goods, the cost of the quality, the higher the price; food bought by the angler can cost more than if bought by the dealer."

"Fifth, the cost of the product. The fresh or canned article, the cost of the quality, the higher the price; food bought by the angler can cost more than if bought by the dealer. In the case of the canned goods, the cost of the quality, the higher the price; food bought by the angler can cost more than if bought by the dealer."

"Sixth, the cost of the product. The fresh or canned article, the cost of the quality, the higher the price; food bought by the angler can cost more than if bought by the dealer. In the case of the canned goods, the cost of the quality, the higher the price; food bought by the angler can cost more than if bought by the dealer."

"Seventh, the cost of the product. The fresh or canned article, the cost of the quality, the higher the price; food bought by the angler can cost more than if bought by the dealer. In the case of the canned goods, the cost of the quality, the higher the price; food bought by the angler can cost more than if bought by the dealer."

"Eighth, the cost of the product. The fresh or canned article, the cost of the quality, the higher the price; food bought by the angler can cost more than if bought by the dealer. In the case of the canned goods, the cost of the quality, the higher the price; food bought by the angler can cost more than if bought by the dealer."

German Finance

Financial Disaster, Little Short of Ruin, Awaits German When War Is Ended

The misstatements and detail of German misrepresentations are quite extraordinary, and one is not surprised to find that they have taken considerable trouble to mislead the public on this continent into the belief that the condition of their national finances is in some way superior to that of the British empire. In point of fact, the two positions are scarcely a subject for comparison, but are clearly a matter for contrast.

German methods of war finance are curiously like their conduct of the war itself. They are based on the supposition that Germany must win. If and when she is defeated, and defeated she assuredly will be, and instead of receiving war indemnities she will be required to pay war expenses.

The misstatements and detail of German misrepresentations are quite extraordinary, and one is not surprised to find that they have taken considerable trouble to mislead the public on this continent into the belief that the condition of their national finances is in some way superior to that of the British empire. In point of fact, the two positions are scarcely a subject for comparison, but are clearly a matter for contrast.

German Logic

No Such Thing as Principle in the German Viewpoint

The twist in the German mind, the American effort to understand it, but some of its quirks are becoming understandable. One is that in German logic there seems to be no such thing as a principle. A thing is lawful or unlawful not according to the law, but according to the effect it will have on Germany. It is wrong, for instance, for the United States to recruit its army in Germany, because it will have an effect on Germany.

The Attack on The Arabic

Is the torpedoing of the Arabic Germany's answer to our third Lusitania note? Solemnly the momentous question is asked by many editors, who recall the "friendly but forced" communication to Germany in which the United States asserted what the New York Sun terms "the right of its neutral citizens to sail on the neutral sea unmolested." Just thirty days after this Government had warned Germany that any further contravention of our rights at sea on neutral waters would be regarded as an act "deliberately unfriendly," the press reminds us, the White Star liner Arabic is sunk without warning off the south coast of Ireland by a German submarine. The Arabic was on her way from Liverpool to New York, and in her passenger list of 181 were included 29 Americans, while her crew numbered 242. While most of those on board were reached, the names of two American passengers appear in the list of more than fifty persons reported missing. The steamer was struck at 9.15 on the morning of August 19, when she was fifty miles west of the spot where the Lusitania went down, and sank in eleven minutes. The fact that a large loss of life was averted is explained on two grounds. First, says the World correspondent, "perfect weather prevailed"; and secondly, from the time the Arabic left the Mersey "her life-boat had been swung out, her life-rafts were ready for launching, and the life-boat had been freed from their racks."

Editorially, The World observes that "every German submarine commander knows that a passenger-ship from Liverpool to New York, whatever flag she flies, presumably carries American citizens." Therefore, if the commander who sank the Arabic "deliberately destroyed an unconvoyed and unarmed passenger ship without taking the precautions presented by international law, it is to be assumed that he intended to playfully murder Americans." Among other New York dailies we find The Times saying that "it should be plain even to the most war-mad Germans that friendly relations between the two countries can not continue to be maintained if these intolerable wrongs continue to be perpetrated." The Tribune is convinced that the time has come "to act," and suggests that "without delay, further protest, any diplomatic exchange that is necessary, the German Ambassador in Washington should receive his passports; the American Ambassador in Berlin should be recalled." The Sun adopts a like attitude, saying that it is "the obvious and only course consistent with the self-respect of the American people in the present extremely critical juncture." Finally, we learn from the New Yorker Staats-Zeitung that it is "most unfortunate that the German Government has not yet answered the third Lusitania note" because "the subsequent destruction of the steamship Arabic can, therefore, be held to be a direct challenge, more particularly as press despatches at hand assert that the torpedoing of the passenger-ship was without warning and the rescuing of the passengers on board was left to blind chance."

Turning to the press of the country at large, we find the Phoenix Arizona Republican, Cheyenne Leader, and Salt Lake Tribune convinced that a rupture of diplomatic relations is now inevitable. In the judgment of the St. Louis Globe Democrat, "if American lives were lost, then the situation is as grave as that when the Maine was sunk in the harbor of Havana." The feeling that the time has come for "positive measures," as the Philadelphia Inquirer puts it, or we must confess that we are only "bluffing," is variously expressed by such journals as the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune, the Indianapolis Star, the Charleston News and Courier, the Worcester Telegram, and the Boston Globe. In the view of the Springfield Republican, the attack on the Arabic "widens the gaping breach between the warring German Empire and the peaceful Western Republic," while among the journals that consider it Germany's answer to our third Lusitania note are the New Haven Journal-Courier and the Hartford Courant.

That we hasten slowly is, however, the suggestion of the German American Cincinnati Volkblatt, which observes: "Only those who stand by England, whether right or wrong, will jump at conclusions. True Americans demand a thorough sifting of the case. We may also add that all difficulties with Germany could be easily averted if Americans would place themselves under the protection of their own and not of a foreign country."

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

COAL mining rights of the Dominion, in the Northwest Territories and Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be issued for a term of twenty years or less, and the total area of the coal fields of the Dominion will be leased to one or more applicants.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or District Agent of the Department of the Interior in the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In unexplored territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unexplored territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $10 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not taken up, but if taken up a royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not taken up, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine in the District of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of the Department.

If you wish to see an enormous crop of fall wheat, just take a walk a short distance out of town and cast your eyes over the south field belonging to G. W. Buchanan. It is the finest field of stocks the eye ever struck. No better or heavier crop is to be found in this portion of Alberta.

What might have proved a very serious accident happened on Saturday night, when little Ella Hodgson was thrown from a rig and fell between the wheels, the hind wheel going over her legs. C. V. Hodgson and family were returning from town, when Roland Easterbrook's motor cycle without a light came up so close to the horses that they took fright and ran, and before Mr. Hodgson could get them under control the little girl had tumbled out and was left some distance behind. She was immediately brought back to Cowley, where her wounds were attended to by Dr. Donald. Her clothes were badly torn and her legs bruised, but fortunately no bones were broken, and it is hoped the little one will soon be around again.

The regular meeting of the Cowley Women's Institute was held on Saturday, the 28th, with a very small attendance—only thirteen being present. The pillow, that had been on exhibition in Kean's show case, was disposed of, bringing $25 for the Red Cross work. Mrs. Hetherington was the lucky winner. A good deal of work was done, and a dance was decided on to be held on the 1st of October, so hold yourselves in readiness. The work of the Red Cross must still go on, even after the close of the war, and it is with this in view that the dance was proposed. All who attended the Red Cross dance given by the Women's Institute last October will remember the good time that was had and will be sure to be present this year to help on the work. Committees were appointed and the work of arranging a good programme for the evening will be commenced at once. Tickets will be ready shortly and may be had from almost any of the members; also a number will be left at the different stores in town, so you can get one before the night and less bother will be had at the last minute. Price of tickets: for gentlemen $1.00; for ladies 50c and a cake. Don't forget the date—October 1st, Friday night. Come and have a good time and help on a good work.

MOTHER OF EIGHTEEN CHILDREN

"I am the mother of eighteen children and have the praise of doing more work than any young woman in my town," writes Mrs. C. J. Martin, Boone Mills, Va. "I suffered for five years with stomach trouble and could not eat as much as a biscuit without suffering. I have taken three bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets and am now a well woman and weigh 128 pounds. I can eat anything I want to, and as much as I want and feel better than I have at any time in ten years. I refer to any one in Boone Mills and vicinity and they will vouch for what I say." Chamberlain's Tablets are for sale by all dealers.

Manager Nedham, of the Coleman hotel, and L. H. Putnam, solicitor, of Blairmore, went down to Bow Island last night to attend a sitting of the district court. We understand that Mr. Putnam will represent several defendants in criminal cases.

Pte. Jack Simpkin, of the 10th Battalion, the youngest soldier in the Canadian troops, is reported wounded in the casualty lists. Pte. Simpkin is only 15 years old. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Simpkin, of Winnipeg.

Mrs. Nellie McClung, the interesting authoress, has been engaged to take part in the prohibition campaign to be waged in the western province. Mrs. McClung's speeches carry a great deal of weight and her influence will be large in inducing the people of B. C. to vote that country dry.

If the same ruling as that applying to fishing should apply to duck hunting, we know of hundreds of the unfortunates that would have had to be thrown back—into the water. Mike says he was present with one for supper on Wednesday evening which he believed had been shot before it extricated itself from the shell, and that's going some.

The British Red Cross is conducting a school for soldiers who have lost their sight in the war. The subjects taught are Braille reading, writing and typewriting, carpentry, book repairing and basket making, message and telephone operating, as well as poultry farming and market gardening. The average duration of training is six months and an effort will be made to give the blind soldiers a good start in life. The Canadian Red Cross is considering plans for a similar work in Canada.

BORN—At Coleman, on Sunday night, August 29th, to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Grafton, a daughter. Joseph had been hoping for a successor as real estate agent, but states that he is quite satisfied with a stenographer.

Messrs. Sparks, Falini and Fabro accompanied Barney Oldfield to the duck-hunting grounds on Tuesday night. On Wednesday the party used so many shells that the wall of smoke still hovers over Pincher Creek. We intend to visit the grounds as soon as the atmospheric clearing.

The young ladies' of Blairmore are the latest to organize a corps for home offense or defense of the empire. They are a "dressed" looking bunch. They are being trained by an attractive young man, and the most popular commands with them are "eyes front" and "present arms." In any event, they all have a chance to win without fighting. Frank will remain neutral.
